Separated from service under Dont Ask Dont Tell, former Marine major Cole Hammond is trying to reinvent himself, but twelve years in the corps and near-crippling PTSD makes reintegration into civilian life hard. Add in poor law school grades and his homophobic ex-Marine fathers rejection, and Coles nearly at the end of his rope. That is, until he meets Marc Sullivan, waiter by day, romance writer by night. Marcs always had a thing for guys in uniform, so when Cole walks into the diner one rainy afternoon, his sweet, sexy smile and Carolina drawl pull Marc in like a magnet. But Marcs been down this road with hot Marines before, and it always leads to heartbreak. With Marcs help, Cole seeks therapy for his PTSD, and a happy life together no longer seems impossible. But if they cant conquer their fears Coles fear of coming out, Marcs fear of being abandoned love might not be enough to save them.
