

Some Down South Thug Luvin

Trill is tall, sexy, and a man who likes to take charge. He is also a dope dealing, big time boss from the south who is running Houston as if hes the sheriff. With the only two people he trusts, his right hand man, Savino and his protege Cordell, they run a very lucrative street business. Now that Trill is thirsty, he is looking for that one big score, so he can secure his lifestyle and leave the game altogether. Timing couldnt be more perfect when he meets Cordells younger sister, Jewels. She is a gorgeous young woman with goals which is a fresh change from what Trills used to. Right away drama creeps in when Trills crazy ex-cuddy-buddy, Taya, gets wind of this relationship. Taya wont let go, even though hes made it very clear that he doesnt want anything to do with her. This is a major blow to her and she reacts by beefing with Jewels. She vows not to stop until Jewels is eliminated from Trills life for good. Now Savino, unlike Trill, has a long time relationship with his girl Rayna. They have been together since they were young teenagers. Shes his loyal queen through thick and thin, but now she needs something more to make her feel complete. This all starts to happen when Jewels puts her on to a job and she begins to earn her own money. The newest of Trills crew is Cordell, who is proven to be loyal beyond a doubt. His only mistake is when he begins to mess with two jealous chicks at the same time. Now when he gets caught up, he doesnt know who to blame. They all have something in common; they are all involved in Some Down South Thug Luvin. All they have to remember is that its not always the way you go into the situation, its the way you come out
