

Thats A Wrap

Fishers, Indiana resident Nia Cannon is thrilled when her 16-year-old daughter, Shanta, is asked to the Homecoming Dance. It's Shanta's first date, but Nia and her ex-husband are startled when they meet the young man. Eldridge El Elias is just as self-assured and charming as Shanta described, but he isn't black. Worried that her daughter might be hassled by schoolmates for dating outside her race, at the last minute Nia decides to attend the dance herself. The last thing she expects to find there is romance... Michael Elias figures he's in for an evening of boring small talk with faculty and other parents at his son's high school, but he signed up to be a chaperone because he wants to make sure his son behaves himself. When he arrives he is enchanted by a gorgeous but nervous-appearing brown-skinned beauty lingering outside. He offers her assistance, and suddenly the evening has the potential to be much more enjoyable.... As their attraction to each other deepens, Michael and Nia soon learn the special challenges that come from adults trying to forge a relationship when their teenage children are dating each other...
